JONATHAN HUNTOON DEAD

He was One of Rock Island County's Oldest Settlers.

His End was Sudden and Entirely Unexpected—Sketch of His Busy Life in the Community.

The death of Jonathan Huntoon at his home in Moline Tuesday evening, removes one of the oldest settlers of Rock Island county, and one of the earliest white men to locate in this community. Mr. Huntoon's death was very sudden and entirely unexpected. It was caused by rheumatism of the heart. During the day he was in unusually good spirits and was about the town during the forenoon, and in the afternoon drove to Riverside cemetery on business connected with the board, of which he was a member. At the supper table he laughed and joked with the family, apparently in perfect health. In the evening he had a business caller, and after he had gone Mr. Huntoon made a memorandum of the business transacted. He then took up his violin and played a few pieces, after which his daughter-in-law read some articles from an evening paper at his request. While she was reading, she heard him gasp, but before she could reach him he was dead. His son, Frederick, was in the room and caught him just as he died. The death coming so suddenly makes the blow especially heavy on the bereaved family.

He was one of the oldest resident settlers in the county. He was born at Hanover, Grafton county, New Hampshire, on Nov. 18, 1815, and was the son of John and Rebecca (Calef) Huntoon. He was brought up on a farm, and pursued that calling until 1837, when he emigrated to Illinois and settled at Andover, Henry county, where he joined his brother, Nathaniel who was operating a flour mill for the "Andover Colony." He was induced to engage in the business and thus learned the miller's trade. This was the first mill in northern Illinois, and people came from a great distance, sometimes a hundred miles or more to have their grists ground. In this way Mr. Huntoon became acquainted with people throughout the northern portion of the state, and even beyond the Mississippi, and learned many important facts regarding the country. While thus engaged he made the acquaintance of Messrs. Spencer and Sears, of Moline, who induced him to come to that place and take charge of a mill they were about to start, situated on the ground now occupied by the Moline Plow company's building. He consequently came to this county in February, 1843, and set up and operated the first grist mill in this vicinity.

The mill was soon succeeded by one erected by the same parties and which contained four run of stones. Mr. Huntoon had charge of the new mill also and was employed in the two about eight years, and three years in the manufacture of what was called the "Grapevine Grain Cradler."

In 1853 he became associated with Messrs. D. B. Sears, Timothy Wood and George Stephens in the manufacture of lumber and furniture on the north side of the island. They continued the business until the island of Rock Island was appropriated by the government as a military reservation. About 1877 he became interested in the Moline & Rock Island Street Railway company's line, now of the Chicago syndicate's lines, and in July, 1884, was elected president.

Mr. Huntoon formed a matrimonial alliance in Hannatownship, Henry county with Miss Mary Paddleford, daughter of William Paddleford. She was born at Enfield, New Hampshire, April 9, 1820. The issue of their union was five children, three of whom are living, namely: Mrs. Hannah C. Irwin Los Gatos, Cal.; Sarah E. wife of R. W. Hodgson, of Newton, Kas.; and James F., who married Elizabeth Jamieson and until recently resided in Henry county, but now lives at the family residence in Moline.

Mr. Huntoon, as the above record indicates, was among the very first white settlers in this part of the state. He built the first frame house in Hannatownship, Henry county, near where Green River Station now is. He built the third house in Moline. The deceased was one of the founders of the First Congregational church, of Moline, and for a time the meetings were held at his residence previous to the erection of the original house of worship.

Mr. Huntoon had been a republican since the organization of the party and cast his first republican vote for the pathfinder, John C. Fremont. While not an aspirant for political honors, he has served in the capacity of supervisor and assessor for a number of terms. For many years he has been a member of the Riverside Cemetery board, and his demise creates a vacancy in that body.

The funeral occurred in Moline at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

William Custer died suddenly at the home of his son, H. P. Custer, 547 Nineteenth street, at 9 o'clock this morning aged 85 years. The venerable gentleman had partaken of a hearty breakfast earlier in the morning and to all appearances was as well as usual. He had been sitting on a porch reading a paper when other members of the family heard a noise and going out found he had fallen from his seat. He was picked up and taken into the house and every effort made to revive him, but he only lived about 15 minutes. He was born in Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, and came west together with his wife and settled at Kewanee, Ill., where they resided for a number of years, coming here to reside with their son about two years ago. Mrs. Custer dying not long after their arrival here. Two children survive him: H. P. Custer, with whom he resided, and William A. of Umatilla, Fla. Mr. Custer was a man of excellent qualities and enjoyed the highest respect of all with whom he was acquainted. His death is supposed to be the result of heart trouble.

The funeral will occur from the home of his son on Nineteenth street Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

NEVINS.

At the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Campbell, 1913 Sixth avenue, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, occurred the death of Mrs. Hannah Nevins, of old age, in her 87th year. Deceased was born at Danville, Pa., and was married to John Nevins in 1834, coming west with her husband and settling at Keithsburg, Ill., in 1837, where Mr. Nevins died in 1875. Ten children were born to the union, only three of whom survive their mother. They are W. F. Nevins, of Burlington, Ia.; F. W. Nevins, of Fort Madison, Ia.; and Mrs. A. C. Campbell, of this city, with whom Mrs. Nevins has made her home for the past five years. She was a life long member of the Methodist church and her gentle disposition had endeared her to all with whom she was associated. The remains will be taken to Keithsburg over the C. B. & Q. tomorrow morning for interment.

Must Have $1,700 More.

The improvements necessary to complete the Rock Island Y. M. C. A. building are still held in abeyance for the lack of $1,700, the only portion of the $18,000 which the association started out to secure, not yet subscribed. While the committees in charge of the subscription met with great encouragement in their canvass, the funds stated must be forthcoming in order to bind what they did secure, as all were made conditional on the securing of $18,000. It would be a great misfortune if all that has been pledged thus conditionally were lost because of the lack of only a tenth part of the amount necessary. A great many associations throughout the country have been the fortunate recipients of bequests and legacies the past year and it begins to look as if the completion of the Rock Island building might be obliged to await some such good luck. The Philadelphia association the other day received a legacy of $110,000.

Thirty-seven Y. M. C. A. buildings have been completed and dedicated in the year ending last month, throughout the country, the Moline building being the only instance on record where a Young Men's building failed, and there it was due entirely to the peculiar legal complications surrounding it.

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarra is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarra cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarra Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years; and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarra. Send for testimonials free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O. 'T WAS A SAD FATE.

How Mary Martens Met Her Death, as Told by the Muscatine Papers.

The Muscatine Journal in its description of the sad fate of Miss Mary Martens of this city, near Montpelier Tuesday morning, says:

The accident happened near the bridge which spans what is known as Fimple's creek. The wagon bridge which crosses the creek is but a few feet from the railroad bridge, and between it and the river. The woman, as near as can be learned, was walking on the track, and in response to the warning whistle, got off to one side. The back water from the river has spread up under the railroad bridge and filled the cut on either side of the tracks so that there was but little room between the track and water. She evidently became scared and thought she would find more room on the other side of the track. She was within a few feet of the bridge at the time, and as she started to cross the track the engine struck her, tossing her into the water between the two bridges.

The train stopped at once and backed down and George Brogan, who lives close at hand, came over with a rake with which he managed to reach her and pull her to the shore. Mr. and Mrs. Brogan who witnessed the accident, were called upon to identify the unfortunate, but could not. The body was taken to Fairport, but no one recognized her and she was sent back to Muscatine and taken to Day's undertaking establishment for care.

The only injuries found on her area cut on the left arm and one on the side of the head and a bruise on her right thigh. It is supposed that she was rendered insensible and drowned before reached.

She was dressed in a black steen skirt, black and white checked waist and wore a broad-brimmed straw hat, trimmed with a pink ribbon. She was about five feet three inches in height, dark hair and quite plump. In a package she carried was a roll of black and white dotted calico, which had been partly cut. A hair crimper was also in the package. Clutched in her hand was a handkerchief with a string of gold beads tied up in it. A small ornament on the chain contained a head of the Blessed Virgin on one side and "I. H. S." on the other.

The News-Tribune says, "the girl came to Muscatine two weeks ago and through Justice Rowan's intelligence bureau secured a position as nurse at the county infirmary. She entered upon her duties a week ago last Thursday, but not finding them agreeable, left the following Sunday to work at Charles Lindacker's, where she quit on Monday. Miss Martens visited Justice Rowan's office yesterday morning and informed him that she had quit out there and announced her intention of going back to Rock Island, where her mother and several young brothers and sisters live. Constable Frutig, who was in the justice's office at the time of her visit, says she did not converse freely and seemed troubled and depressed. Not being burdened with a surplus of money she doubtless decided to walk home, and her mind evidently being preoccupied with her trouble, she no doubt did not notice the train back of her until too late for escape."

News comes from Muscatine today that the girl was buried in that city.
